TO LOOK AFTER THE CHILDREN

Judge Sparks Names Six on a County Board of Children's Guardians.

THE NATURE OF THEIR WORK

Embraces Supervision of Neglected and Dependent Children of Unfit Persons.

On account of a number of children in this county not having the proper training, and homes and being reared in an environment that is conducive to bring about bad results in the shaping of their character, Judge Will M. Sparks yesterday created a Board of Children's Guardians that will have supervision over such matters in the future. On the board are Mrs. T. W. Betker, Mrs. H. E. Barrett, Mrs. Edward Crosby, Carl V. Nipp and James Lock.

The members of the board serve without compensation, but if the volume of business requires the county commissioners may be petitioned to provide and maintain a suitable home for the children under their care. The board will have the care and supervision of neglected and dependent children under fifteen years of age domiciled or residents of Rush county. Their work embraces looking after children of habitually drunken, vicious or unfit parents, children kept in vicious or immoral association, or children known by their language and life to be vicious or incorrigible, juvenile delinquents and truants.

The board has the power to commit such children as they see fit to orphan's homes, and under order of the judge may place children as apprentices or have them adopted without consent of their parents. It is also their duty to petition the court, when they deem it advisable, to commit incorrigibles to the reformatory and industrial schools.

There is no doubt but what a great good will result from the creation of the new board. But few counties in the State have such boards although the law was passed in 1901, giving the circuit judges the power to declare same.

OVERCOAT THIEF REPENTED OF JOB

When he Learned That he Had Stolen the City Marshal's
"Benny."

THREW IT IN AN ALLEY

Yesterday someone made bold to enter the Windsor hotel lobby and purloin City Marshal Price's overcoat. Last night the little son of Ira Fout found it in an alley near West First street, and the coat was returned to the officer. Warrants and other papers were in the pockets of the coat and it is thought the bold thief became fearful of detection when he learned it was Mr. Price's coat and immediately threw it away.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crosby were called to Anderson this morning on account of the death of Mrs. William Allen, a niece of Mr. Crosby.

The Research club met with Mrs. Fred Beale in North Arthur street this afternoon.

A dinner-dance will be given at the Social club next Wednesday, November 25.

LOCAL MEN PARTICIPATE

In Ceremony at Dedication of Odd Fellows Building.

About one hundred local Odd Fellows, accompanied by the city band, attended the dedication of the new Odd Fellows building in Indianapolis yesterday. Edward Farrer, grand chaplain, and J. T. Arbuckle, grand marshal, both of this city, were participants in the ceremonial part of the program.

SECOND PRIZE IS WON BY A WOMAN

Mrs. G. P. McCarty Guesses the Four
Words Omitted on Tuesday Evening.

ALSO WON THE BETKER PRIZE

Mrs. G. P. McCarty of West Tenth street is the winner of the Missing Word contest in replies received today for the issue of Tuesday evening. The missing words were "winter" in Wolcott's ad; "magnanimous" in Betker's ad; "straight" in Tron's ad, and "us" in McCarty's ad. In addition to the prize of one dollar given by the Republican, Mrs. McCarty received another dollar offered by T. W. Betker to the winner on the evening a word was left from his ad.

There were but five correct answers received in almost one hundred replies submitted. The word "us" proved the sticker for most of the contestants. It is really a pleasure to look over the large number of letters and note the ideas some people have. Some make a very forcible argument as in the case of the advertisement of the Fair Promise cigars where the name of the maker, George Aultmeyer, is given as the missing words.

HALL CALLS AT THE STATE HOUSE

Looks Over His Senate Seat—Will Share Quarters With Railroad Commission.

NO PARTNER SELECTED YET

The matter of a partner for Lieut. Governor-elect Frank J. Hall for the inaugural ball is still open, according to the Judge today. Mr. Hall was in Indianapolis yesterday and the Star says of his visit:

"Frank J. Hall of Rushville, Lieutenant Governor-elect, visited the State House yesterday and looked over the quarters he will occupy when he presides in the Senate. On request of members of the Indiana Railroad Commission, Mr. Hall agreed to share his offices with the commission during the session, in order that the latter body might not be discommoded.

"During the legislative session it is necessary to use various offices for caucus rooms, and the Railroad Commission is usually put to inconvenience on this account. Mr. Hall told W. J. Wood, a member of the commission, that he would be glad to make any kind of arrangements to share his office."

BOONE THORPE IS TURNED ADRIFT

Mrs. Clara Miller - Thorpe - Levi is Granted a Free and Unlimited
Divorce.

BEN SMITH AS SPECIAL JUDGE

Husband, Turned Aside, Was Found in Front of Bakery Enjoying a Mental Banquet.

The last ember of hope in the breast of that martyr on the altar of love, Daniel Boone Thorpe, was kicked out the back way today when a decision was handed down granting the erstwhile half-married half-divorcee wife of Thorpe a "free and unlimited" divorce without any strings, fixings, or ifs and ands.

The action of the court will be a crushing blow to Boone when he awakens to the full realization that the ties are put asunder for all time, forever and a day. Boone's temperament and disposition is not of that sort that he will now rush in to win the golden apple in a "quick-hitch and drive" race and in a vindictive mood take on the first woman that meets his fancy just to spite his former wife. No, no, not Boone; he's not the man. Far be it from him to act thusly, but on the other hand he will humbly bow his head and bear his sorrow the remainder of his days without a whimper, murmur or complaint.

Mr. Thorpe was a principal in one of the most complicated runs ever made since marriage was first discovered or invented. His experience would afford Shaw, Molnar, Zangwill or any of those boys who write plays enough material for ground work of a dozen problem plays. The story has been told so often "hereabouts" that even the school children and the janitors know it by heart.

His wife sued for a divorce and was granted a separation for two years. At the end of that time she was again to be the wife of Thorpe. She misunderstood the decree and went out and married an old fellow, Will Levi. Boone was hanging around waiting for the two years to pass around and waited with all the eagerness of a prisoner serving a sentence. Things were as complicated as a church committee trying to get together on a new carpet. By virtue of the decision after the woman married Levi she would be the wife of two men when the two years rolled around. And both wanted her.

Today Ben Smith, sitting as special judge, heard the evidence in a new suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Clara Miller-Thorp-Levi, and granted the same. All is over—this way out.

Boone was found on the street, standing in front of a bakery looking at the sweets and tarts and enjoying a mental banquet. When apprised of the court's last decision he displayed no outward signs of emotion whatever. In a moment or two he tried to smile, but one could see he was bleeding internally, around the heart. Boone will spend the winter in Rushville and contemplates writing some caliope music to be used at deaf and dumb asylums on Friday afternoons.

Ray Lakin plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery on James Newsom, colored, in the circuit court today, and was fined one dollar and costs.

—Jim Kelly, an iron moulder, formerly a resident of this city, was assaulted and severely cut by an unknown person in Indianapolis Tuesday night.

—Jack Stewart of Milroy was in this city today.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID HEADLEE

Trustee Bottorff Read Paper Before the Board on Superintendent's Retirement.

MEMBERS DEEPLY TOUCHED

When Early Life of Beloved Official
Was Reviewed and His Present Condition Noted.

At the meeting of the township trustees yesterday, Thomas E. Bottorff of Anderson township paid a high tribute to the retiring county superintendent of schools, W. O. Headlee in a paper he read before the board. The paper follows:

Mr. Chairman: This to me is a solemn occasion, and a silent reminder of the end of human events. Four short years ago by the fortunes of American politics we were made associates on the Board of Education. The retiring county superintendent was our leader. The peculiar circumstances under which he resigns makes the parting more painful. Our hearts go out to him and his family. He came into the new field of labor, young and with little experience. He was born and reared in poverty. At an early age he was made an orphan. His school advantages were not the best. Those more favorably situated in life know not how to sympathize with him in his struggles. Unlike us who have gone beyond middle life, he was not strong in a physical sense. More than five of the best years of his life have been devoted to educational interests of our county. These have been years of progress. We owe much to him. We have seen him grow from an inexperienced youth to a tower of strength. How well do we remember when stricken with disease, that the people in broken accent would inquire of his condition. Alas! he comes again to us in his emaciated form. His body fails to respond to the energies of his mind. He finds he must cease his labors and retire to a more favorable clime. His resignation has been tendered, our associations are broken perhaps forever. While he lives let us scatter fragrance of love and friendship along his pathway. Let our united prayers ascend to the Giver of all good that he may regain his strength.

What a matchless character goes out from us! Devotion to duty and loyalty to friendship is written all over his life work. His exemplary life is more enduring than marble tablets. His nobleness has brought recompense in suffering. That Book to which we go in grief tells: "The just are made perfect through suffering." Lowell says:

"Be noble! and the nobleness that lies
In other men, sleeping, but never dead,
Will rise in majesty to meet thine own;
Then wilt thou see it gleam in many eyes,
Then wilt pure light around thy path be shed,
And thou wilt nevermore be sad and lone."

Though we are sad, yet under the influence of past memories, we are inspired and led on to greater heights of living. From these memories let us take increased devotion to the work yet before us. Let us reach that point where we can look out on the great mass of humanity with sympathy and lend a helping hand.

In further testimony of my high regard for our dear friend, indulge me while I read a short poem dedicated to him. This poem, as I believe, expresses the sentiments of the Board of Education.

TWO RURAL MAIL BOXES TORN DOWN

Inspector Will Probably be Called
Here to Make an Investigation.

AS IT IS A SERIOUS OFFENSE

Two mail boxes were torn down on rural route two and another one damaged by the throwing of a large stone in it. Perhaps those who are guilty do not realize what a serious offense it is to destroy mail boxes. In all probability an inspector will be here to make an investigation.

WILL NOT PAY THE EXTRA INTEREST

L. E. & W. Claims Technical Error
Was Made in the Assessment
Against Rushville Branch.

WRONG NAME CAUSES TROUBLE

Because of a technical error in making out the assessment, the L. E. & W. road refused to pay the one against the Rushville branch for the building of C and G avenues, amounting to $435.54, says the New Castle Courier. The name "New Castle and Rushville railroad," instead of the "Rushville branch of the Ft. W. C. & L. railway," is what caused the trouble. When the assessment was modified the company agreed to pay it and stated that vouchers are now being prepared.

Interest was charged against the company which it refused to pay on the grounds that the town was at fault in causing the delay. Contractor Garvey now wants his money and has filed an account against the town for the interest, which amounts to $17.

FILED BOND YESTERDAY.

NEW SERVICE TO BE ESTABLISHED

Express Will be Handled by the I. &
C. Traction Co. on all Regular Cars.

WILL STILL RUN FREIGHT CARS

It is Thought Much Better Service
Can be Given to the Public After
New Plan is Adopted.

The Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company will establish an express service on the Greensburg and Connersville division December 1st. Express will be carried on all passenger cars and put off at any station where the car is scheduled to stop but will not be delivered from the station.

No special attachment will be put on the regular cars, but the express will be carried in the front of the car where the baggage is now taken care of. It is thought that in this way much more express can be handled and the public will be given a much better and long desired service.

The regular freight cars will be run heretofore upon the same schedule. But any merchant wishing goods from Indianapolis in a very short time can secure them after this new plan is adopted. It is the opinion of the Traffic Manager George Henry, that the traction company can do much more business in this line as soon as the new plan is inaugurated because there are many more passengers than freight cars run each day and more can naturally be taken care of in this way.

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction Company and also the Union Traction company have tried this system and found it very efficient.

TRIBAL WARS AND MASSACRES

From the South Pacific Come Bloody Tales.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 19.—The steam ship Moana which has arrived from Australia, brought news of a massacre in the Rock Islands, belonging to New Pommern, where for some unexplained reason the natives killed thirty of their women folk. It is the intention of the Germans to send a punitive expedition there.

News was also brought of a massacre at Santos, in the New Hebrides, where Peter C. Crig, fifty-one years of age, and his two daughters, were murdered by a mob of natives. Santos had been regarded as a Christian center and settlers were regarded as safe. The massacre took place within a short distance of the mission station to which the surviving member of the family, a boy, fourteen years old, made his escape. H. M. S. Prometheus has been sent to the scene.

News of tribal wars in which thirty natives were killed was brought by the Moana from Sydney. The Sissiani natives surprised a village of the Manu tribe and massacred thirty of them. A force sent to the scene attacked the Sissiani people who retreated into the bushes after a sharp fight in which six of the murderers were shot.

Body Taken From River.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—The body of a young man, supposed to be Brent Woodall, secretary of the University of Cincinnati, and former newspaper man of that city, was found in the Ohio river at the foot of Thirty-sixth street. Woodall disappeared from his home in Covington on Nov. 1, and only last week a party of Cincinnati men were in Louisville looking for traces of the missing man.

Forest Fires in Kentucky.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 19.—Forest fires are spreading alarm and disaster in the knobs and lowlands adjacent to Danville in Boyle county, on the Queen & Crescent railroad. Thousands of panels of fence have been destroyed and on account of the extremely dry weather and heavy winds the people remain on watch all night to save their homes and property. Hundreds of men fought the flames last night, but the fires continued unabated today. The country for miles around was lighted up by the blazes. Practically no rain has fallen in this locality since the first of August and water for stock is being hauled for miles.

Brothers Have Fatal Quarrel.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—Reuben Crown, until recently a follower of Eastern racetracks, lies dead in the county morgue, death resulting from a bullet wound. Joseph Crown, his brother, a practicing attorney in local courts and well known about the city, is in a hospital hovering between life and death, a bullet having penetrated his chest. Both shots, it is alleged, were fired by Reuben Crown following a quarrel between the brothers over money matters.

JOHN D. EXCITES MUCH INTEREST

He Testifies In the Case of Standard Oil Company.

TELLS STORY WITH EASE

He Recounts With Ease of Manner and Pleasant Tone the Early History of His Famous Oil Company—His Appearance in Court Was the Cause of a Large Assemblage of Spectators and Newspaper Men.

New York, Nov. 19.—Relating his story with the air of a country gentleman of kindly mien engaging a host of friends with incidents of days long past, John D. Rockefeller, president of the Standard Oil company, though for nearly ten years retired from the active cares of company direction, for over two hours yesterday reviewed the history of the early oil trade and the development of the first companies that later grew into the present so-called oil trust. Mr. Rockefeller was a witness for the defense in the suit to dissolve the Standard which is being prosecuted by the United States government, and his appearance at the hearing before Judge Franklin Ferriss, the referee, brought a large crowd to the customs building.

The head of the big oil combine was surrounded by an imposing circle of counsel and when he began his testimony he gazed complacently upon a swarm of newspaper men behind whom pressed close a throng of people that filled the room. Mr. Rockefeller appeared at complete ease and when John G. Milburn, of counsel for the Standard Oil company propounded his first question, the witness spoke out in full tones as if he desired the most distant spectator in the chamber to hear. Then in a manner that indicated a pleasure at what he was about to tell, Mr. Rockefeller spoke of his start in the oil business and how under adverse conditions that business grew to the proportions of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, with its capitalization of $1,000,000. Mr. Rockefeller's eyes sparkled in reflection on that early financial organization and speaking of its million dollar capitalization with almost boyish enthusiasm, he said:

"It seemed very large to us, who began with only $4,000 in 1862." Thus the proceedings lost in a sense their official aspect because of the engaging manner which Mr. Rockefeller displayed in his answers which now and then continued flashes of kindly humor. A glow of health showed in Mr. Rockefeller's smooth shaven face and to inquiring newspaper men he replied that he never felt better. The president of the Standard was dressed in a plain business suit of dark material and across his vest suspended a heavy gold watch chain. A dark purple necktie, in which a large pearl pin was set.

The development of Mr. Rockefeller's testimony, which carried him to the organization of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, indicated that one of the lines of the defense would be that the Standard Oil company is not the result of an aggressive policy to gain the mastery of the oil trade, as charged, but the natural outcome of economical development which the exigencies of the oil industry demanded.

Dismissed the Case.

New York, Nov. 19.—After much testimony as to treatment accorded laborers employed by the Florida East Coast Railroad company in the construction of its extension across the Florida keys, the case of David E. Harley, an agent of the railroad company accused of conspiracy with three employment agents of this city to lure men to Florida and there keep them in a state of compulsory labor equivalent to peonage and slavery, was dismissed by Judge Hough in the United States circuit court, after the jury, acting upon instructions from the bench, had returned a verdict of not guilty.

A Progressive Republican Party.

The work of reform begun under the administration of President Roosevelt ought to go on. We have had a great awakening in this country—an awful disclosure of abuses in high places. We have made substantial progress towards the correction of them. But the hardest problems are to come. Railroad rate regulation was an easy one compared with trust regulation, which we have not touched as yet. Tariff reform, currency reform and the labor question are other hard ones, all on the tapis. It will be a fatal mistake to let our ardor cool with the work only begun.

And these are only instances. In the light of them a great fact looms up—the fact that we have entered upon a new epoch in our national life. In the first epoch we were settling the country. The second was creative; we were up-building cities, railroads, trade, commerce, manufacture, art, science and law. We built on a foundation of free competition for all. We thought that was the fairest principle of social and political organization; and we were not wrong in that. But we find that it has dangers of its own. Free competition, unwatched and uncontrolled, has bred for us a class of competitors so strong that they devour their rivals and competition ceases. That offends our sense of justice. We want every man to have a square deal, to have equal opportunity with every other man to exercise his powers, be they great or small. At the same time, we do not want to fly to socialism. The problem before us, then, in its largest aspect, is to preserve our competitive system, but mitigate its injustices. This is the aspiration which is stirring the hearts of the people. It means progressive advancement in wisdom and justice of government toward perfections hitherto unattained in the world. It opens the third epoch in our national life. Theodore Roosevelt was its John, the Baptist. It would be sacrilegious to push the comparison further. But the people have put the Republican party in power to carry forward the reformation which he proclaimed. To do that it must be wise, courageous, patient, preserving and progressive.

In this great campaign for advanced, elevated, purified government, the Democratic party has no capacity for usefulness whatever. But that is another story. Suppose we postpone that until tomorrow.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

ADDED JUST "ONE DASH."

(Richmond Palladium)

This town of Rushville has set a pace in a different way. It has anything the Great White Way can produce, skinned a city block. The veriest Salome dancer would blush with shame, but it was jolly good sport for the street loafers and many a neck was stretched out of plumb in the attempt to see it all. Two young men and two young women were drunk Saturday night and decided upon a novel stunt. The girls seated themselves on the sidewalk and their male companions taking them by the ankles, dragged them about. There was a great deal of hilarity and nobody hurt until the town marshal was collided with. Then one of the men became obstreperous and the marshal laid him on the sidewalk for more than the count. The men and one girl were fined for drunkenness. The other girl gave an exhibition of the reindeer stunt and has not been located since.

Tribute to Headlee

The following poem was written by Thomas E. Bottorff, trustee of Anderson township, and dedicated to retiring Superintendent W. O. Headlee. The author read it at the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon:

We look back through the mist of years,

We see our friend as he appears
In that simplicity which bears
In manly form his load of cares.

His mind alert bends to its task
Of gathering fruit the world shall ask;

He will dispense to fallen men
A portion with his tongue and pen.

In his creation God made choice
Of substance strong and superfine;
The sons of men will late rejoice
That he was giv'n by grace divine.

With unbought grace he wends his way
To conquer tasks each in its day,
Till last he stands the bold compeer
And our best type of man's career.

In faith sublime he ever wrought,
The darkness of the mind he sought,
So clear he saw and knew the need
Of planting there the ripened seed.

When first he came to public view,
Some thought him young, unlearned
A few;

What hidden power in sweetness shown
As time revealed the strength his own.

Brief were the years we knew him well,
And labor's worth no man can tell;
These council fires we linger o'er,
And friendship love as ne'er before.

The record's made, our councils cease,

In mem'ry's walls we live in peace;
Great God vouchsafe to our dear friend.

The strength he seeks with noble end.

We would not call him from his rest
So nobly earned in conflict dire;
His living word shall be our test,
To greater deeds shall we aspire.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

Several days ago Capt. Gowdy came into the Republican office and was lamenting the fact that he had lost a pair of glasses he valued very highly. He placed an ad in the want column and waited in vain for the spectacles to turn up. But never a word did he hear. This morning he again visited the office and he was all smiles.

"I want to take that ad out," he said.

"Did you find your glasses?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "found them in my own pocket. What's the charge?"

"Nothing at all," he was assured. "Well," he said, pitching over a half dollar, "the joke is on me—let's smoke cigars, anyway; here's a half dollar for the corruption fund."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS ARE ALWAYS WELCOME.

And now the Daily Republican's appearance begins to remind you that there is really some activity in the world that is not labeled politics. The road was long and the incidents lively, but there is an end to the journey and a rest from labor. All are heartily glad it is all over and that the papers can now devote some attention to other passing events. All have had a surfeit of politics and the change is an agreeable one. Send in your local news and help improve the Republican. If you know of any little item of news that would interest our readers, we shall be duly thankful for its receipt. We want all the local news all the time.

Little Education For Wage Earners.

By Dr. EDWARD J. GOODWIN, President of Packer Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.

A SECONDARY system of education for the United States is yet to be worked out. In recent times the American school has not kept pace with national progress in production and methods of doing business.

WHILE THERE HAS BEEN SOME BROADENING OF THE SCOPE AND IMPROVEMENT OF THE QUALITY OF INSTRUCTION, EDUCATORS STILL LARGELY IGNORE THE INTERESTS OF THAT GREAT AND GROWING CLASS OF BOYS WHO ARE TO BE WAGE EARNERS, ARTISANS AND TRADESMEN.

The indictment against our present scheme of elementary instruction is that it overburdens the memory with uninteresting and useless material.

There are two great reasons for the establishment of trade and industrial schools and courses. The first is the GOOD OF THE YOUTH themselves; the second is the welfare of the nation in the UPBUILDING OF ITS INDUSTRIES. We are gradually coming to recognize the injustice of organizing our high schools in the interests of the FEW alone who are able to command a liberal or semi-liberal education.

What are our high schools doing today to meet the growing demand for skilled workers of all sorts? Practically nothing. They contribute in New York state, for example, less than 2 per cent of the men who yearly enter the so called "UNLEARNED" PROFESSIONS.

LIBEL CHARGES HAVE BEEN FILED

Knightstown Postmaster Brings Suit Against Publishers of New Castle Tribune.

SWAIM NOW CHARGES SLANDER

Statement Made That he Was Put in Jail Proved Untrue—No Retraction Made.

Affidavits were filed Monday night by Charles Swaim, the Knightstown postmaster, against Horace L. Burr, J. Carl Shaffer, Fleming Ratcliff and Harold Yaucky, proprietor, manager, editor and reporter, respectively, of a local newspaper, charging them with criminal libel, says the New Castle Courier. The bench warrants were served this morning by Sheriff Burr on all, with the exception of Mr. Burr, who was out of the city at the time, but will be arrested as soon as he returns.

This is one of the after-claps of an alleged sensation which had its inception in Shirley and terminated in Greenfield. Swaim was indicted by the Hancock grand jury charged with intoxication. In an account published by the defendants the statement is alleged to have been made that Swaim was unable to furnish bond and was put in jail. As a matter of fact he was not in jail.

Swaim was placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Yost, who was supplied with the writ from Hancock county through the regular court channel. He states that Swaim was released on his own recognizance and given all the time he needed to furnish a bond.

Swaim expected a retraction of the statement in the local publication when the details were developed, but none has made its appearance. He states that the article to which he objects slandered and disgraced him and his family, prostituted the post-office of the United States, and, while the case against him was nollied and thrown out of the court, yet he feels that he should be vindicated and that his reputation should not suffer through a false representation of facts. It is alleged that had the publishers taken the ordinary care and usual pains exercised in every well-regulated newspaper office, to fully investigate the case before publishing the distorted facts, there would not now be four criminal libel cases in the Circuit court.

The penalty provided for willful and criminal libel is a fine of from $5 to $1000 and costs, to which a jail sentence of six months may be added at the discretion of the court.

Hundreds of people who suffer from backache, rheumatism, lame back, lumbago and similar symptoms of kidney trouble. Lewis Frazee is Chosen to Represent

HAS ABILITY IN THIS LINE

Lewis Frazee was chosen yesterday by the members of his class after a spirited contest to represent the Sophomore class in DePauw University in the intercollegiate debate which is to be held soon. There was much competition for the place and to win it brings much praise to Mr. Frazee. He has shown much ability along this line and is sure to be heard of sooner or later.

HUNTING PARTIES ARE STILL POPULAR

One Was Formed Today and Another Wandered Over Merrill Ball's Farm Yesterday.

KILLED GOOD SUPPLY OF GAME

That hunting parties are still popular in Rushville is evident by the fact that one was formed today and another roamed over the fields and woods of Rush county yesterday with varied success.

Lon Stewart, Stewart Beale, Rev. W. H. Clark and Clyde Kennedy went to Andersonville this morning in quest of game.

Dr. E. F. VanOsdol, Jesse Pugh, Herman Tompkins, and Dr. D. D. VanOsdol hunted on the farm of Merrill Ball, northwest of this city yesterday and were fortunate enough to return with a bountiful supply of rabbits.

AND RUSH COUNTY IS SOME PUMPKINS

Enough of the Yellow Fruit Shipped

Out This Year to Make

399,600 Pies.

Will Redman, Rush county's Pumpkin King, is "some punkin'" when it comes to figuring in the yellow fruit output of Indiana. By conservative calculations Mr. Redman bought and shipped enough pumpkins out of this county this season to make 399,600 pies or 133,200 cans. This is based on the inch high pies like mother used to bake. Mr. Redman will furnish seeds to farmers free of charge and hopes to see Rush county the foremost pumpkin county in the State.

WILL NOT LEAVE SOON.

W. O. Headlee, who recently resigned his position as county superintendent, will, together with his family, visit relatives in this county for two or three weeks before leaving for permanent residence in Texas.

NO CREPE IN CHINESE JOINT

In West First Street on Account of the Death of Tsi Au and Kuang Hsu.

NEVER EVEN STOPPED IRONING

The Only Display Will be Made at the Legation in Washington and By Various Consulates.

There are no signs of mourning among the Chinese of Rushville for the death of Tsi Au, empress dowager of China, nor for Kuang Hsu, the son of Heaven. The few celestials in West First street go placidly on with their ironing, and there is no display of the black robes of mourning, neither is there any burning of the incense bowls. Not only that, but they will tell you in confidence, that there will be no sorrow among the American Chinese.

Charley Doo said today that no observance of the death of the Empress is likely in this country, except at the legation in Washington and the various consulates where the blue and white mourning draperies were displayed.

It was gathered that he felt that the rules of his native land were cruel and tyrannical, and that the country was better off without them. He said the Chinese in this country hated the Empress, because they felt that she kept back progress. The Emperor, whom everybody admired, was in sympathy with efforts to improve the country, but was in the control of the empress. This control was largely due to the fact that it was the custom of the Chinese to bow before the world of age.

It is hard to tell anything about the new Prince, who will be regent during the infancy of the Prince Pu Yi, he said, as not much faith should be put in the newspaper reports, which come from there.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To my old patrons and many friends in Rush county, I wish to say that I have re-entered the practice of dentistry, with offices in the new K. of P. office building, corner of Massachusetts Avenue and Pennsylvania Street, (opposite postoffice) Indianapolis. I am no longer connected with the firm of Coughlin & Will-on, having sold my interest in this firm some three years ago.

I have had quite a good many Rush county patrons already, and I trust that I may have many more, especially those for whom I have done work for before. There has been many important improvements in dental methods recently which will enable the progressive, skillful dentist to do better work and less painful operations.

My improved process of painless extraction insures positive results, minus the after soreness of the gums that ordinarily follows the injection of cocaine and other local anesthetics. Painless extracting is one of the attractive features in my practice, indeed it has always been.

To those who want the latest and best there is to be had in dentistry at moderate prices, I feel safe in saying that they will not be disappointed if they come to me.

BIG MEETING IN THIS DISTRICT

Woodmen Plan a "Log Rolling" to be Held in New Castle Dec. 2.

MANY STRANGERS EXPECTED

New Castle Wigwam Will Prepare to Entertain Over 500 Visitors.

The Modern Woodmen of America of this district will hold a meeting in this city on December 2, says the New Castle Courier, and W. A. Dale and J. A. Leigh went to Richmond Monday for the purpose of looking after several details in connection with the New Castle meeting. These district gatherings are periodical and the lodge here is growing nicely. A good crowd of Woodmen is expected and the program for the day is being outlined.

The local lodge propose to dispense the New Castle variety of hospitality and the visitors will be made to feel at home. In addition the work will be of a high order and it is the intention to have a class of candidates ready for initiation.

While in Richmond Messrs Dale and Leigh completed arrangements with the Richmond lodge to exemplify the secret work of the order. It is thought that there will be from 500 to 800 visitors here for the district meeting and if the weather is at all favorable the crowd may be larger.

Final arrangements will be made on Thursday evening and all the committees will proceed to get busy. It is especially desired that citizens of New Castle extend a hearty greeting to the Woodmen and the request coming from the lodge will no doubt be complied with. The I. O. O. F. hall has been secured for the meeting.

There are fifty or sixty Woodmen in the city who are not members of the local lodge and it is desired that these as well as all members turn out Thursday evening. Every Woodman in town is invited.

YOU CAN'T CURE CONSTIPATION

by taking purgatives, salts or other drugs that act harshly or violently upon the stomach or bowels.

Ask any doctor, and he will tell you that purgatives of any character distend the bowels and weaken the elastic tissue.

To cure constipation, remove the cause. The cause of constipation is indigestion. If your food is digested properly it would continue on from the stomach through the bowels, and would be eliminated without effort and with regularity.

Mi-o-na tablets cure constipation by curing your indigestion. It is not a purgative. It is a stomach tonic and more—it tones up, strengthens, invigorates, refreshes and injects new life into the worn out muscles of the stomach, in a short time makes the stomach hardy enough to digest anything you eat. It is a powerful yet harmless stomach tonic, and its resistless influence on the stomach is astonishing.

Try Mi-o-na for constipation. One box will cure you of indigestion; two boxes will relieve you of constipation; and best of all, Mi-o-na is such an economical remedy. A large box only costs 50 cents, and then if you are not satisfied with results, F. B. Johnson & Co., the druggists, will give you your money back.

Mi-o-na cures all stomach disorders, whether acute or chronic, such as dyspepsia, vomiting, over-indulgence of the night before, sea or car sickness, stomach sickness of prospective mothers, etc.

Read this from a president of a New York corporation:

"I have been a terrible sufferer from dyspepsia and gastritis for two years. The most eminent physicians prescribed for me with no effect. I have been absolutely cured by your Mi-o-na tablets. The first one gave me a relief almost incredible. Very gratefully yours, Herbert H. Taylor, 501 West 143d street, New York City."

Lady Betty Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"I'm afraid not, unless we turn back," said he. "But you needn't mind them. Remember you're with an old 'cow puncher.'"

"Oh, were you one, too?" I asked, trying to seem at ease.

"Too?"

"I was thinking of a friend of my cousin Mohunsligh's, whom he was always talking about, a Mr. Harborough, who lives in San Francisco. Mohunsligh knew him abroad somewhere. He used to be a 'cow puncher'—whatever that is—in Texas, I believe, though now he's a millionaire. Did you ever hear of him?"

"Yes," said Mr. Brett in rather a dry way.

"I was so disappointed not to meet him."

(As we walked on, I kept my eyes on the horrible animals who were grazing at some distance.)

"Why?" he asked the question almost sharply.

"Because my cousin says he's such a glorious person."

"Well gilded, anyhow."

"Oh, I don't mean on that account. I'm rather blasé of millionaires lately. But from Mohunsligh's accounts he must be—well, the sort of a man we like."

"We?"

"Girls. Brave and adventurous, and reckless, and that sort of thing."

"I'm afraid his millions are more of an attraction to most girls."

"Why? you're as bad as he!" I exclaimed.

"In what way?"

"Unjust, and—almost morbid. I wouldn't have thought you would be like that, though perhaps one can't blame him so much if he's had bad experiences. I am sorry for him. It must be miserable to fancy always that people care for you for your money."

"I'm sorry for him too. At least, I used to be—whenever I thought of him."

"Aren't you now?"

"No. I believe he's a changed man. He's found that there are exceptions to the gloomy rule he'd laid down for humanity."

"Oh, then he's happier."

"So far as I understand the case, he isn't exactly happy yet. He isn't out of the woods. In fact, he's in the thickest part. But he sees blue sky and the sun shining overhead."

"What do you mean?"

"A fellow who knows him very well told me that Harborough had fallen in love with a beautiful girl who was so unworshiped that she might be induced to marry for love—if she cared."

"Then why isn't he happy?"

"Because he doesn't know whether she can ever care for him—except as a friend. He's sure she likes him pretty well, but there's nothing in that. I'm mighty ignorant about such things myself, but they say if a girl doesn't mind showing that she's your friend and values you in a way it's a sign she's a thousand miles off from falling in love with you. What's your opinion on the subject, as you seem to be rather interested in Harborough?"

"My goodness, Mr. Brett, there's a cow looking at us. Oh, what shall we do? It's the worst cow of all. It's putting its head down now. It doesn't like us. Oh, what an appalling beast I believe it must be a bull."

"It's a very young one," said he calmly. "Now, don't be frightened. This is going to be nothing at all."

"Are you sure?"

"Can't you trust me?"

"Yes. I know you won't let me be hurt. But you?"

"Don't worry. Perhaps we shall have a little fun. Just wait."

The cows were delighted. Evidently they regarded the horrid, thick-necked brute as their champion. They didn't follow him toward us, but lifted their heads and stared complacently, as much as to say: "Isn't he a splendid fellow? Now he's going to give them what they deserve."

The rest happened so quickly it was all in a jumble. With a smile, Mr. Brett reached out and took my sunshade, which I'd closed. Just as the bull came at us he opened it in the creature's face. The bull swerved a few inches, surprised, and the next thing I knew the sunshade was tossed away. Mr. Brett had seized the animal by his horns and was vaulting on his back with a laugh. "Run to the nearest fence," said he.

He did it as easily as if it were play, and so it seemed to be for him. The bull tore about, ramping and raving while I obediently dew for the fence and scrambled over without ceremony. There I turned, panting, frightened, yet laughing in spite of myself. Mr. Brett's hat had fallen off, and his short hair was ruffled across his forehead. Riding the black and white bull, hanging on by legs as well as arms, he looked like a runaway schoolboy reveling in a mischievous lark. His eyes sparkled, and his white teeth shone.

The bull was sure he could throw his rider at first, but finding he couldn't was very much surprised. His wild gallop subsided to a trot, and, embracing his great neck, Mr. Brett bent far down to one side to snatch up my sunshade, which lay on the grass, open and undamaged. A few moments later he had steered the bull in some curious way with his feet, so that the beast came loping stupidly near the fence. Then Mr. Brett jumped off and vaulted over.

"That was a good bit of sport," said he. "It reminds me of old times, when we chaps used to ride steers for a wager. I'm a little out of practice now, but I hope you were amused."

"I was much too terrified," I said, thankful that he was on the right side of the fence at last.

"Then I apologize for the exhibition. The silly brute didn't know he was our bull, you see, but I reckon he'll remember now and act accordingly."

After that nothing else happened to upset us on the way to Sally.

The place where she is staying isn't a farm, but quite a small cottage in a lovely garden, walled in with oaks and maples, and Mrs. Randal sells seeds and cuttings.

A young girl came down to the door when we rang, and asked us to "please sit down on the piazza," she would call Miss Woodburn. Then we had a few minutes to wait, and Sally appeared.

I was glad to see her! And when she held me tight and kissed me I had to wink back some silly tears. It was so good to feel that she cared about me, and would sympathize in everything, for I knew she would.

After Mr. Brett had said "how do you do," and a few polite words, he added that he would just stroll over to the Green Dairy farm across the way. He knew the farmer there, and would like to have a chat with him. We settled that he was to come back for me in an hour, and then Sally and I were left alone together.

She made me begin at the beginning and tell all my adventures, cause as well as effect, before she would give me any of her news, or even her opinions on the situation as far as it concerned me.

It made quite a long story, and Sally was a beautiful listener, as only sympathetic and unselfish people can be.

"There wasn't anything else for me to do, was there?" I asked when she

He looked like a runaway schoolboy, knew everything exactly as it had happened.

She complimented me on my "pluck," like the dear creature she is, and said she hadn't it in her heart to be sorry, as things had turned out, that I had had such a chase to find her.

"To tell the truth, it was your affairs that drove me to Chicago," she went on. "I don't mind your knowing now, dear. We can talk freely about things I couldn't discuss with you before. Of course, I always knew Katherine wanted you for Potter, and that they'd both do anything to get you. It began with her trying to keep other men away from you even on the ship. Do you remember? Nobody could get near you but Tom Doremus, and he wouldn't if Kath hadn't been afraid of Mrs. Van der Windt. It was just the same in Newport, whenever she could fix it so. I couldn't exactly warn you; it wouldn't have been nice. They are my cousins, and I was Kath's guest—though I shouldn't have been for long, if I hadn't wanted to watch over you. But you know I did drop hints sometimes, didn't I? It wasn't my business if you'd fallen in love with Potter, but though he isn't a bad fellow, he's not good enough or strong enough for you, Betty, and I should have been mighty sick at heart if he had got you."

"I never felt he wanted me, really," I said, "although he was always proposing."

"Oh, yes, he did want you. Perhaps he wasn't truly in love at first, though he always admired you, dear. There was an actress that he was crazy about last winter—a nice girl, too, and he would have married her if it hadn't been for Katherine, who was wild over it, said such a misalliance in the family would ruin her as well as him, and contrived to break it off somehow. Potter never cared for any one else so much. The girl seemed to understand his temper exactly, and though he was heart and soul for winning you, after the race was begun, I shouldn't wonder a bit—now he's lost you—if that at all didn't come on again some day. He might do worse."

"I wish the girl joy of him," said I. "But how was it you went away from Newport?"

"Oh, I told Kath what I thought of her for trying to trap you. It was that and nothing else. And she didn't like it. She almost asked me to go, and though I knew it was to get me out of the way, I had to do it."

"Mr. Brett has been a saint to me," said I.

Sally smiled her three-cornered smile. "I think from what you tell me of some of the things you've said to him, and some of the things which have happened, that he has been a saint—more of a saint than you know."

"You mean I've tried his temper?" I asked anxiously.

"Not exactly his temper. But never mind."

Going home Mr. Brett and I walked along the road until we'd passed the cow meadow. Then we took to the short cuts again. A lovely blue darkness was just touched with the faint radiance of a new moon, as if the lid of a box had snapped shut on the sun, and the moment the light was gone the fields lit up with thousands and thousands of tiny, pulsing, drifting sparks.

"What is it?" I asked, astonished.

"Fireflies," said he. "Did you never see any before?"

"Never. How wonderful. They are the most exquisite, magical little things!"

"Then I'm glad you're seeing them for the first time with me," he said.

When we got home the stars were pricking out in the sky, and Patty and I were down by the gate, counting them. It seems if you can count seven stars for seven nights, then the first man who touches your hand afterward you're bound to marry. I counted my first seven, and I do hope it won't rain for a week.

To be continued.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

GOOD, HONEST, SQUARE-DEAL

Medicines like those of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, warrant their makers in printing their every ingredient, which they do, upon their outside wrappers, verifying the correctness of the same under oath. This open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves. Furthermore, it warrants physicians in prescribing them largely as they do in their worst cases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach and bowels, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), liver, bowels (as mucous diarrhea), or other organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is advised for the cure of one class of diseases only—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities peculiar to women. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve.

For weak, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American, medicinal, forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum. Don't do it.

Lamphere Trial.

GRUESOME TALE BY SHERIFF

Joseph Maxson and Sheriff Smulzer Were the Principal Witnesses in the Notorious Gunness Case—The Latter Tells of the Finding of the Bodies.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 19.—Carefully working up to the denouement the evidence which the state claims will show that Ray Lamphere set fire to the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness and thereby caused the death of Mrs. Gunness and her three children, Prosecutor Smith unraveled before the jury the stories of the fire, told of by the men who were earliest on the scene. The greatest interest centers about the testimony of Joseph Maxson, the hired man, who since the fire has been lecturing in country school houses, at county fairs and in assembly halls on "the great Gunness mystery," but it varied in no great particular from the story which he told the coroner, and which he related before the grand jury. Indirectly, Attorney Weir, for the defense, on cross-examination tried to imply that Mrs. Gunness on the night of the fire had "doped" Maxson in the oranges which he ate, but Maxson denied this.

Explanation of the $10,000 story referred to in the letter from Mrs. Gunness to A. M. Helgelein, regarding the disappearance of his brother, was made, and it will prove a strong link in the chain of evidence that is being woven around Lamphere for the alleged murder of Helgelein.

Sheriff Smulzer's testimony related that Lamphere had told him (Smulzer) that Mrs. Gunness was then looking for a man named Helgelein who was wanted in Aberdeen, S. D., for having killed a man in a gambling house and robbed him of $10,000. Sheriff Smulzer telegraphed the authorities in Aberdeen and received a reply that there had been no such murder or robbery, and that Helgelein was a well-known farmer in that vicinity. Smulzer paid no further attention to the charge.

Smulzer testified to being notified about 5 o'clock on the morning of April 28 of the fire and of going there immediately with Deputy Sheriff Antis in his automobile. He told of taking charge of the search for the bodies and of keeping a gang of men at work all day and of finding the bodies in the northeast corner, where the fire had been hottest all day and where the greatest amount of debris was found. The bodies of the two children were found first. The arms and legs were not detached when discovered, but they fell away when the bodies were moved. The head also of one of the children looked solid enough until it was touched, when it almost fell to pieces. The two girls were together, face downward, appearances indicating that the larger one had her arms clasped around the other. There was a small hole in the head of one of the girls. The large adult body was on its back, a short distance away, and in the arms was the little boy. The arms and legs of some of the bodies were burned off.

Daniel M. Hutson and William Humphrey, who helped the sheriff search the ruins of the Gunness home, related their experiences, which varied in no way from their former stories. Hutson is the man who recently told of seeing a woman resembling Mrs. Gunness at the farm on July 9.

WOMAN FALLS NINE FLOORS.

Miss Clara W. Herrick Killed in Pythian Building at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 19.—Miss Clara W. Herrick, a Christian Science practitioner, fell down the elevator shaft of the Indiana Pythian building to instant death at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She had left her office and was waiting in the corridor on the ninth floor for the elevator. When one of the cars, upon which, stopped at that floor, she stepped in. As the car started up to the eleventh floor Miss Herrick either attempted to leave the car and regain the ninth floor, or stumbled and fell. Her body went through the opening, striking the closing door and stopping it. She fell to the floor, then rolled backward into the open shaft. The one scream, followed by the several impacts as her body bumped against the sides of the shaft, caused those in the building to crowd the corridors on every floor. Some few saw the woman's body strike first against one side and then another in the descent.

Police Shoot Dogs.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19.—The Terre Haute police have shot nearly 200 unmuzzled dogs in the last two days. The order now is to shoot dogs which have no license tags, although they may be muzzled. At the beginning of the mad dog scare it was estimated there were 2,500 dogs in Terre Haute, but only 500 $1 licenses had been issued. Since then between 500 and 600 dogs have been killed and 200 licenses have been issued.

AN INTERESTING MEETING

Of the Trustees of the Carnegie Foundation.

BISHOP HUGHES HAS RESIGNED

The Meeting Was Presided Over by President Elliot of Harvard, Who Will Draw the Largest Annuity Allowed by the Rules of the Foundation—Massachusetts the Only State to Qualify for Annuities.

New York, Nov. 19.—"Wealth is, in itself, no ground for honoring a man. It is of value to the community only as it is put to service, and it is only as a man puts to service that which he has, either of wealth or of ability in some line, that he has a right to claim the friendliness and good will of the community." These sentiments, expressed by Andrew Carnegie, sounded the keynote of the annual meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie Foundation, held at the headquarters of the foundation here.

Mr. Carnegie again made clear his purpose to have the revenue from the $15,000,000 fund donated by him to the foundation, regarded as the rightful heritage of retiring college presidents and teachers, and in no sense a charity.

President Elliot of Harvard, presided at the meeting as chairman of the board of trustees, and allusion was feelingly made to his approaching retirement. Dr. Elliot will himself receive the annuity prescribed for all retiring college officials of the highest paid class. This amount, $4,000, is the largest annual payment allowed in accordance with the foundation rules and is much less proportionately than the 60 or 70 per cent allowed to educators who have drawn smaller salaries.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, of the Methodist Episcopal church, now stationed at San Francisco, tendered his resignation as a member of the board to which he was appointed while president of DePauw University, Indiana. Dr. Hughes was elected to the bishopric at the last general conference of his church.

Henry I. Pritchett's annual report which will shortly be issued, will show that Massachusetts state university is the only one of the state institutions which has qualified for retirement annuities under the terms of Mr. Carnegie's foundation. These provided "that in each state where a state university is located a legislative act of approval shall be passed before the instructors in such university shall be eligible to annuities after the close of their active service periods." Only in Massachusetts has the legislature met since these terms were made known.

President and Labor.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Further conferences at the White House between the president and men who are prominent in labor matters made the attitude of the administration toward proposed labor legislation a subject of keen discussion in Washington. It is learned from the highest authority that the object of the president in giving a dinner to friends of labor and in holding the subsequent conferences was primarily to bring about a better understanding between representatives of the government and labor leaders and to impress upon the labor interests of the country the disposition of the administration to receive its representatives in conference on an equality with all others.

National Municipal League.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte, of President Roosevelt's cabinet was the chief speaker at last night's joint session of the National Municipal league, of which Mr. Bonaparte is president, and the American Civic association. The meeting was held at Carnegie Music Hall and attracted the largest audience that has yet attended the meetings of the National Associations here, this week. Attorney General Bonaparte's topic was "The Criminal Law as a Means to Enforce the Will of the People."

For Industrial Education.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—The National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education began its second annual convention in this city today. Among the speakers this evening will be James Wilson, secretary of agriculture; Theodore Search, of Philadelphia; Elmer Ellsworth Brown, of Washington, D. C., United States commissioner of education, and Carroll D. Wright, former United States commissioner of labor and now president of the society. The attendance will include some of the most prominent educators in America.

A Pointed Paragraph.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The feeling entertained by the late George D. Wolf, of Sommerdale, toward Charles W. Wenzel, his son-in-law, is shown in the following paragraph in his will: "Fifty cents be paid to my son-in-law, Charles W. Wenzel, a native of Huntingdon, Pa., to enable him to buy a good stout rope with which to hang himself." The decedent left an estate valued at $10,500.

DEFORMED TURKEYS WILL SELL CHEAPLY

Advice Given by Poultry Men to the Farmers on Care of the Gobbler.

USUAL TALK ABOUT SUPPLY

Feed, water and care well for your turkeys, is the advice that poultry raisers are receiving just now. Indianapolis produce merchants have sent circulars to poultry raisers over the State relative to the Thanksgiving poultry market. In the circulars is set out the annual fright about an over supply of Thanksgiving fowl. This happens every year. And as usual the circular advises farmers and poulterers what to bring to market in order to obtain the best prices. The circular says there will be plenty of turkeys, although there will be plenty of poor ones, but no storage is apparent. The circular further says:

"Relative to poultry for Thanksgiving trade our demand will be largely for turkeys. Owing to the high prices of feed and the continued dry weather stock is not as fat as it should be and we are compelled to buy turkeys strictly on the grade. We want the toms to weigh twelve pounds and better; hunchbacks, crooked breasts and lightweights will have to go at lower prices."

HAWKING MACHINES

Catarrh Sufferers are Nothing But
Hawking, Spitting and Blowing
Machines, Says an Authority.

Is it possible that in these days when cleanliness and sanitary reform is being preached in the churches, schools and at public gatherings, that thousands of people will continue to suffer from catarrh, when there is an absolutely certain remedy always on hand.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is a pleasant, medicated and antiseptic air. Breathe it in and it will cure catarrh. It will stop foul breath, watery eyes, and crusts in the nose, in a few days.

It is guaranteed by Johnson's Drug store to do it or money back, and such a guarantee ought to be strong enough for anybody.

Having suffered from catarrh for about two years, and having tried numerous remedies without any satisfactory results, I finally tried Hyomei, and am glad to state that after using about one and one-half bottles I am entirely cured. I have recommended it to others with satisfactory results.—C. N. Lindsay, 407 East First Ave., Mitchell, S. D.

A complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a strong, hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, costs only 50 cents each at Johnson's Drug store or direct, by mail, charges prepaid, from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hyomei also cures Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds, Croup of infants, and any inflammatory disease of the respiratory tract.
